

THE NATCA PODCAST: National Safety Committee Chair Chrissy Padgett & CFS 2022

This week on the NATCA Podcast, National Safety Committee Chair Chrissy Padgett talks about the upcoming Communicating For Safety (CFS) Conference, union activism, and the importance of working together. She talks about how NATCA members' day-to-day work is affected by the discussions and collaboration that takes place at CFS, and what she's looking forward to most about the conference for 2022.

"Everything we do is part of that union spirit — that is, we work together, regardless of whether it's internal to NATCA or it's external and collaboratively with many different counterparts," she says. "It's about talking together and working together."

NATCA Staff Spotlight: Political and Legislative Representative Annika Olson

We have an amazing National Office staff that our membership can be very proud of. Today we're featuring one of the newest members of NATCA's staff: Political and Legislative Representative Annika Olson. Recently relocated to Washington, Olson joins the Government Affairs staff from Austin where she served as the Assistant Director of Policy Research for the Institute of Urban Policy Research and Analysis at the University of Texas.

Annika is returning to the D.C. area where she previously obtained graduate degrees in public policy and psychology at Georgetown University. We are excited to introduce our Annika as an important new member of our NATCA family!
