NATCA Represented at Women in Aviation International Conference

This year's Women in Aviation International (WAI) conference took place in Orlando, Fla., March 21-23. Thousands of female pilots, engineers, executives, flight attendants, air traffic controllers, and others in the aviation sector came together from around the world for the 35th WAI conference.

Two members of NATCA's National Office staff – Meeting Planning and Events Representative Mindy Soranno and Public Affairs Administrator Jessica Reed – represented our Union at an exhibit hall booth at the event. They handed out educational materials to aviation professionals, student pilots, and aspiring air traffic controllers. Several other NATCA members – both active and retired – also were in attendance at the event.
