

Brothers and Sisters,

As we wrote to you yesterday, we are approaching the possibility of a government shutdown at the end of the month. Congress is moving forward this week with a short-term Continuing Resolution (CR) that would fund the FAA until December. The bipartisan effort could be voted on this Wednesday in the House and then move to the Senate for a vote before the deadline. This is a positive development, but NATCA will continue to follow the progress and update you on the status of the efforts to avoid a government shutdown.

Last week, we held another great Communicating for Safety (CFS) conference. I'd like to thank every attendee, speaker, and panelist that attended the 25th CFS. It is always a positive step to building a stronger foundation for our NATCA membership. A special congratulations to all the award winners. They will all be spotlighted in future NATCA updates.

Tomorrow, on Webinar Wednesday, we will have a presentation from the National Validation Team (NVT) on traffic count. It is scheduled for Wednesday, Sept. 25, at 2 p.m. Eastern and open to any member. The panel will discuss the current traffic counting program usage and complexity modifiers.
