Convention Day 1 Marks Second Krasner Day

The first day of business for NATCA's 20th Biennial Convention opens with the recognition of the second Krasner Day, honoring NATCA President Emeritus Barry Krasner. This observance was established by unanimous delegate vote at the 19th Biennial Convention in Fort Lauderdale, naming the first day of every NATCA Convention "Krasner Day." Delegates will be wearing the commemorative shirts they received at registration.

NEB Meeting in San Francisco

NATCA's National Executive Board (NEB) met ahead of the Convention on Wednesday, May 7 and Thursday, May 8 in San Francisco.

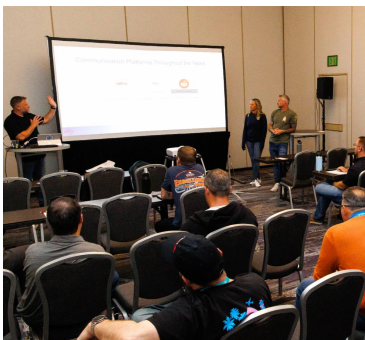

NATCA's President, Executive Vice President, and Regional Vice Presidents constitute the NEB. The NEB is responsible for the creation of policy for our Union between our conventions.

Pre-Convention Classes Set the Tone for a Strong Start to Convention

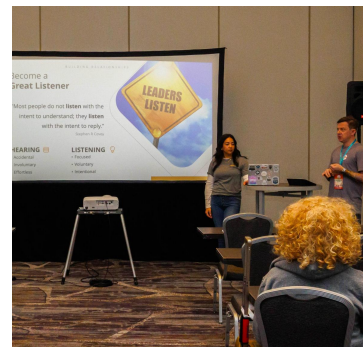

Members gathered on Thursday, May 8, ahead of the 20th Biennial Convention at the Marriott Marquis in San Francisco for engaging classes focused on leadership, benefits, safety, and union advocacy. NATCA's pre-convention classes gave attendees a valuable opportunity to build knowledge and confidence before the official start of Convention business.

Jen McCoy (Tampa Tower, TPA), Josh Haviland (Seattle TRACON, S46), and Adam Rhodes (Houston TRACON, I90) explained the role of Article 114 Representatives and their work with the FAA on new technologies and systems.

Reloaded Committee members Saja Cox (Oklahoma City ATCT, OKC) and Jamie Sanders (Centennial Tower, APA) hosted a NATCA Reloaded session on leadership fundamentals and the power of positive influence without a formal title.

Reloaded Committee members Nicole Wysong (Engineer/Northwest Mountain Region, ENM), Cameron Haynes (Wichita ATCT, ICT), and Sam Navarro (Seattle Tower, SEA) closed the day with a session on building strong, lasting relationships to support

Members Step Up for Solidarity at NATCA Charitable Foundation Over the Bay 5K

NATCA's 20th Biennial Convention kicked off with a burst of energy and unity as members took part in the NATCA Charitable Foundation (NCF) Over the Bay 5K on Thursday morning. With one of the most scenic routes in the country, participants walked and ran from Vista Point across the Golden Gate Bridge, finishing in Crissy Park. The event, hosted by NCF, featured stunning views, strong solidarity, and plenty of smiles.

Thanks to Our Parliamentarian, Jim Slaughter

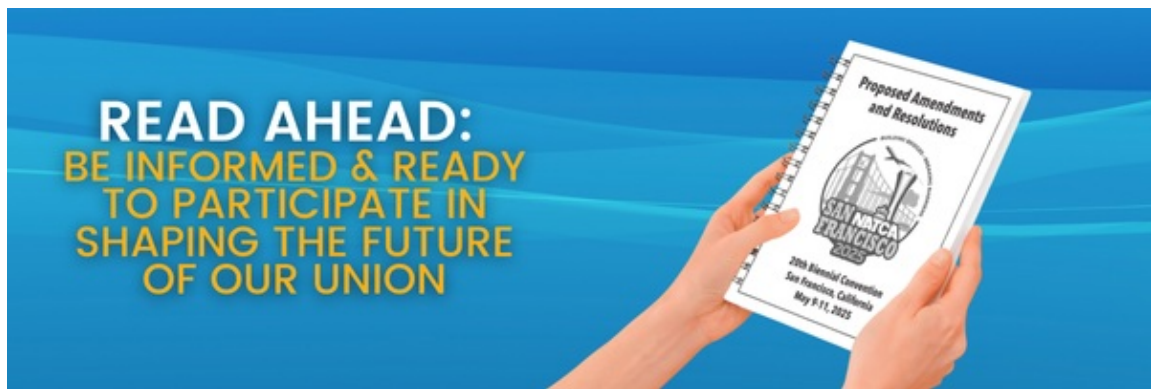

We're proud to welcome Jim Slaughter back as our Convention Parliamentarian for his 12th NATCA Biennial Convention. Slaughter plays a key role in keeping Convention business running smoothly, advising our leaders and delegates on rules and procedures so everyone can be heard and discussions stay on track.

Slaughter is one of the top experts in parliamentary procedure in the country. He's an attorney, a certified parliamentarian at the highest level, and the author of two popular books on running effective meetings. He's been part of NATCA's Convention team since 2002, and we're grateful for his steady guidance. Learn more about him.

Proposed Amendments and Resolutions

The core purpose of the Convention is to carry out the business of our Union — reviewing, debating, and voting on proposed changes to the NATCA Constitution. Pursuant to Article XIV, Section 1 of the Constitution, the National Constitution Committee has compiled the Amendment & Resolution Booklet. This booklet includes all proposed constitutional amendments, resolutions, and policy and position statements that will be brought to the floor. Each NATCA member received a Convention package containing all the proposed amendments to the NATCA constitution, resolutions, and policy and position statements in the mail.
