

U.S. Representative Ralph Norman Tours Greer ATCT/TRACON

U.S. Representative Ralph Norman (SC-05) recently visited Greer ATCT/TRACON to gain a deeper understanding of operations at GSP Tower, especially compared to those at Charlotte Tower/TRACON. During the visit, NATCA member Veronica Kelly (Greer ATCT, GSP) offered first-hand insight into the role air traffic controllers play in maintaining both safety and efficiency of the national air space. Veronica also spoke to Congressman Norman about his continued advocacy for air traffic controllers and how impactful it has been.

Support NATCA's Aviation Outreach at Oshkosh: Limited-Edition Merchandise Now Available

EAA AirVenture Oshkosh is the largest air show in the world, drawing more than 686,000 attendees, over 10,000 aircraft, and thousands of aviation professionals, enthusiasts, and families each year. The weeklong celebration of flight and innovation starts Monday, July 21, and NATCA is proud to be part of it, offering vital air traffic control education and outreach to pilots, families, and future aviators.

From the controllers working the busiest airspace in the world to NATCA members leading pilot communication workshops, emergency procedure briefings, and hands-on learning at KidVenture, our volunteers make a lasting impact.

Now, you can support that effort and show your pride with official NATCA Oshkosh 2025 merchandise, available for a limited time. Items include sweatshirts, t-shirts, magnets, coffee cups, kids apparel, hats, and patches, all featuring the exclusive NATCA Oshkosh logo.

Quantities are limited, and the ordering window is short. Merchandise is available to NATCA members and the general public. Proceeds support NATCA's volunteers and our mission to promote aviation safety and controller-pilot collaboration at this major event.

The promotional graphic features a vibrant pink and yellow background. In the top left, a circular logo reads "OSHKOSH 2025" around a central emblem of an airplane and a control tower, with "NATCA" in large red letters below. To the right, bold red text with a white outline states "MERCHANDISE AVAILABLE FOR A LIMITED TIME". Below these, four items are displayed: a navy blue hoodie with a "CONTROL FREAK" graphic, a black tumbler with "I OSHKOSH ATC" and "WORLD'S BUSIEST CONTROL TOWER", a blue polo shirt with a small NATCA logo, and a grey hoodie with "I OSHKOSH ATC" and "WORLD'S BUSIEST CONTROL TOWER". At the bottom, the website "store.natca.org" is written in large, bold, red letters with a white outline.
