

Date: October 22, 2025

To: All Personnel

From: Anthony R. Wells, Director of Operations, AJT-C
National Training Initiative, Management Lead

Jamaal Haltom, NATCA National Training Representative
National Training Initiative, NATCA Lead

Subject: NTI Update: Continuing Progress Amid Current Challenges

Team,

We are writing to inform you that the National Training Initiative (NTI) Dashboard is currently down. While that makes tracking and reporting more difficult, training should continue where and when it is practicable, and in accordance with the National Training Order (3120.4), and the NTI. Facilities are expected to move forward with OJT, classroom, and simulation training to the extent circumstances allow.

We recognize the added stress and uncertainty everyone is facing right now. The shutdown and impending missed paychecks are weighing heavily on the entire workforce, and especially our trainees, who are some of the most vulnerable during times like these. Please keep looking out for each other, stay connected, and give those around you the support and flexibility they need. Additionally, we ask that you please manually retain NTI impediments to ensure we're able to accurately capture the training picture for each trainee once the dashboard is restored.

Even with these challenges, training matters, and every bit of progress counts. We'll continue to work together and will update everyone once the dashboard is back online.

Thank you for staying focused on safety, training, and each other.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read "ARWells", is positioned above the name of the sender.

Anthony R. Wells
Director of Operations, AJT-C
NTI Management Lead

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read "JHaltom", is positioned above the name of the sender.

Jamaal Haltom
NATCA National Training Representative
NTI NATCA Lead